

Richard Boozell Professional Bio

Richard Boozell is a passionate advocate for social good, bringing over 12 years of leadership experience in the non-profit sector. As the founder and CEO of Guided Path Terminal Cancer Support, he is building a mission-driven organization dedicated to providing compassionate care and essential resources to individuals and families navigating advanced-stage cancer diagnoses.

Throughout his career, Richard has demonstrated a steadfast commitment to improving lives through innovative program development, strategic partnerships, and community outreach. His expertise includes streamlining processes to accelerate access to critical services—skills honed during his leadership roles managing large-scale data systems and overseeing compliance initiatives.

In addition to his work with Guided Path, Richard has held leadership positions within two homeless services continuums of care, serving four counties in Florida. There, he successfully led community-wide workflow restructures, developed training modules to enhance program efficiency, managed data collection systems, and ensured compliance with federal, state, and local policies.

Richard's entrepreneurial spirit extends beyond the non-profit realm. As the owner of a small business specializing in decorating services and custom home décor, he combines creativity and operational excellence to deliver exceptional results.

Driven by a deep sense of empathy and purpose, Richard envisions a world where every individual facing an advanced-stage cancer diagnosis receives the support, care, and guidance they need to navigate their journey with dignity. He is committed to ensuring no one faces this path alone.

An active member of the Morristown Chamber of Commerce, Tennessee Nonprofit Network, the Alliance for Better Nonprofits, and the Tennessee Cancer Coalition, Richard is a skilled strategist and compassionate leader dedicated to fostering impactful change.
